CyclistNexus.com

The Premier Online Cycling Community

Created by cyclists for cyclists, CyclistNexus.com is a free, innovative new web service and social networking site that links routes, groups, ride scheduling and logging together enabling cyclists to connect, and manage all their cycling activities in one place.

In addition to rich route mapping, storage and search functionality, CyclistNexus.com offers additional tools that enable cyclists to form and find groups, create and manage cycling events, and connect them all on their own personal portal page. Intended to give cyclists more time on their bikes, CyclistNexus.com offers instant alerting and communication tools that makes coordinating and communicating details of their rides and other activities easier than ever.

“CyclistNexus.com is the best all-around web-based application I've seen to support the needs of bicyclists. Many features including bike route mapping with elevation profiles and cue sheets, event listings, mileage tracking, social networking, and more are presented with an intuitive interface. Creating and posting your own bike routes is a snap.”
